

DAOfood[®] Plus

For the dietary management of DAO Deficiency and its associated symptoms

What does DAOfood[®] Plus contain?

The main ingredient is Diamine Oxidase (DAO) enzyme with high activity. Adjuvant ingredients are quercetin and vitamin C with activities that act in synergy with the DAO enzyme.

What is DAO Deficiency?

This refers to a Deficiency in Diamine Oxidase (DAO) metabolism activity or an imbalance between the amount of histamine ingested with food and the enzyme capacity to metabolise it. As histamine has not been properly metabolised and degraded, it passes into the bloodstream triggering different symptoms.

How does DAOfood[®] Plus work?

The amount of DAO contained in DAOfood[®] Plus complements the enzyme found naturally in the body enhancing the breakdown of dietary histamine. DAOfood[®] Plus supports histamine metabolism locally in the small intestine and, in combination with quercetin and vitamin C as adjuvants, restores the natural balance of histamine and DAO. With the innovative Eficaps[®] technology based on capsules with gastroresistant tablets that allow the release of the ingredients at the required time and place of action.

How should DAOfood[®] Plus be taken?

Taking one tablet before each meal increases the amount of DAO in the small bowel, boosting histamine degradation in the digestive tract and therefore avoiding the common reactions reported for an excess of histamine in the body.
